BART HERBISON, Ex. Dir. NSAI: "It's amazing to me that Bill Anderson first hit pay-dirt as a teenager, when he wrote "City Lights" at the age of 19. And now, while enjoying the 7th decade of his life, he continues to crank out such unique product. In fact, this entire collection could just prove to be some of his absolute best. So far."

BUDDY CANNON, Record Producer: "On his new cd, "SONGWRITER", Bill Anderson continues to carry a bright torch for all songwriters and remains one of the most distinctive vocal stylists country music has ever known. My personal favorite song of this bunch (besides the one he and I co-wrote) is the title track. It is a lighthearted look at what makes a songwriter tick and it's honest enough to give the listener a close look inside the heart of all of us who write songs whether or not we make any money from it. Bill is one of my real heroes and I'm proud that I'm lucky enough to get to write with him occasionally, and he doesn't sing so loud it hurts my ears. Go Whisper..."

FANS (unsolicited e-mails): Cheryl/Wisconsin..."I especially like "That's When The Fight Broke Out". No one but Bill Anderson would think to take some crazy e-mails and make a song out of them. Pretty cool." Violet/West Virginia..."Great country comedy and absolute tear jerking, wonderful country music. I love it." Wade/Minnesota..."It is inspiring to see an artist, 50+ years into his career, write 12 brand new songs that would be a fit on any contemporary country CD." John/Pennsylvania..."I love "Wherever She Is". Boy did that strike a familiar chord." Louise/Canada ..."It is such a diverse compilation of all facets of BA. You are amazing. Thanks for continuing to be the best."
